Russellville Street, near Main. Come and see me. POLK CANSLER Peck's Bad Boy And His Pa.

By George W. Peck.

"Get out of here now, pretty lively," said the grocer, man to the bad boy as he came in rubbing his hands and trying to be pleasant, "A boy that will loaf around here and eat things, and kick when I ask him to help me $2,00 sort over potatoes, can't stay in my store. Git," and the groceryman picked up a link of sausage and

"O, go hate yourself," said the boy as he drew a knife and cut a slice off the groceryman's weapon, and began eating it, as unconcerned as possible. "When you want work done, say so and I will help you, but when you say 'let's go and have some fun' sprouting potatoes or carrying in coal, that is too thin. When you say Insurance Company, are guilty of false pretenses. But quit lying and call it by its right name, work, and you catch Hennery, but not with funny chaff. But I have got all the work I want on my hands now. I have been appointed pa's guardian, by ma, and I am straining every nerve to keep pa out of polit-man in alarm, "I am sorry for your pa, if he has got his head set on go ing into polities. I was in politics one year myself, and it has taken me five years to get out and pay my debts, and now every ward politician owes me for groceries. You see they came to me and wanted me to run for supervisor. They said I was just the man they wanted, a man with a large head, one who was a business day after the caucus I didn't have ballot under his thumb, and I had to the store, and the clerk was dying of can get your pa out of polities. do it louesomeness? Whatever your pa if you have to scare the life out of thereby relegated the shape to the does, don't let him go into polities, him. for he will bring up in an inebriate asylum, sure.

"Well, pa has got it bad, but he is ing for two years for a political campaign to open. I don't suppose there is a citizen who enjoys politics as much as pa. He stays out at nights first man on deck in the morning. He has drank with more candidates, more different times, than anybody, and when he is so full that he can't drink he takes a cigar and brings it home. His guests have been smoking up old election cigars ever since the Hanceck campaign, and some of them are awful. But this time they are going to run pa for alderman, and he has opened the campaign with a cork-screw. Pa thinks that the position of aldermen is greater than governor, because alderman wear a badge, and have influence. But pa is overdoing the thing. He wants to please everybody, and he has promised to put ninety-seven men on the police force, has promised forty-four men the position of bridge-tender and there is only one bridge in his ward. He promises the saloon keepers to reduce the price of licenses, and allow them to keep open all night, and he has promised the prohibition temperance people to raise saloon ligoing to be if pa is not elected he the people will kill him, so somebody has got to save pa."

"You can't do it as long as the fever is on," said the groceryman. "You have got to watch him, and when he meets with defeat or reverses in polities, then fire some sense into him. But as long as he is red hot in a campaign, nothing will stop him. I have seen a politician who was full of enthusiasm and beer, fall into the river and drown, and the police pulled him out and then rolled him on a had not heard a single word uttered and the first thing he said was 'Rah Mr. Penny, and all your family." for Tilden. Some years there lived in the "Old North State" two men who had been great friends, but who "fell out," and refused to speak to each other. One day they met by charge in Raleigh, the county town, and Sheriff H., a mutual friend prevailed on them to "make friends" and shake hands. After this, all hands repaired to the nearest saloon to drown all receuses to a thousand dollars and close collections of the unpleasant affair, every saloon in town. [Detroit Free Pres.] In front of a Detroit butcher shop esterday a butcher sat cleaning a revolver. It was a rusty old "Colt" which had not been used for years and was to be put in order and traded off. A shoemaker came along directly and observed:

"Of course there'll be an accident?"

"Y-c-s, I presume so." "It isn't loaded is it?"

"Oh, no,"

"But it will go off?" "It will?
